

Residential Exhibit B

Homeowner hired us as their expert to lead a team of engineers and boil down the complicated issues of a failing retaining wall into a concise and understandable format. We hired and coordinated a team of experts including a Geotechnical Engineer, a civil engineer, and a structural engineer. Along with our investigation data and photos, we combined all of the engineering issues into an easy-to-grasp report. Our report and testimony helped the attorney win the landslide case in trial in August 2009 on behalf of the owners of this single family home and obtained a settlement valued at $4.3 million.
