I have known and worked in the community with Myles Corcoran for many, many years. He is both fair and very knowledgeable as a construction expert and has developed an expertise in this field over many years. I can also recommend him as an arbitrator and mediator in the area of construction disputes if you need that service. He is even tempered and knows how to handle parties and their attorneys in a manner that makes them feel respected and heard. His expertise and professional manner serves him well in this area.
